

DSRC Event

Writing for Researchers

Karthik Ramaswamy, IISc

ABSTRACT

Graduate students in science and engineering often do splendid research, but it is of little use if they cannot communicate it effectively. Unfortunately, in spite of the importance of this skill, it is not part of the graduate curriculum. This session will seek to equip students with a few tools to help them become better communicators of their research.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Karthik, a former biologist, is involved in the outreach activities of the Office of Communications (formerly called the Archives and Publications Cell) at IISc.

October 24, 2020, 9:00 am – 12:00 pm, Microsoft Teams